F A Next 2019 - Boosting innovation in food and agriculture

F&A Next connects food and agriculture startups to investors, serving as a springboard to greater innovation and a better deal for all. We are all aware of the challenges this world faces as we look to increase food production by 60% to feed a world population of nine billion in 2050. At the same time, the public expects healthy, safe and affordable food, and demand is being further influenced by urbanisation and changes to consumer behaviour. These are exciting days then for the agri-food sector as we make the fundamental changes required to • Increase the availability of sustainable food • Improve access to food in emerging markets • Enhance yields to grow production and meet future demands • Reduce supply chain losses and waste. Date: 15 and 16 May 2019. More information about the programme, venue and tickets will follow in due time. <http://www.fanext.com/>
